Online Session

‘Uniting allergy care through regional and national initiatives’

Wednesday 10th November 2021

Aims and Objectives:

1. To introduce primary and secondary care to the world of allergy
2. To introduce common allergic diseases and how they are diagnosed and managed
3. Introducing the emotional and behavioural aspects of allergy
4. Highlighting the role of psychology within allergic disease – the unmet need

Teaching Methods: The conference will be delivered online only. A series of thematic talks are offered. Sessions will include description of specific cases of allergy, progressing to an account of how new initiatives in management can link local practitioners to regional and national networks for optimum outcomes and benefit across the board. Question and answer sessions will be offered. Opportunities for feedback and some handouts will be available following the event.
