Primary Care

BSACI Co-Lead for Education and Training

This position carries no remuneration and is expected to be assumed by an established member of the BSACI Primary Care Network

As a BSACI member working in primary care, we are pleased to invite expressions of interest from colleagues to work alongside Chloe Savident, BSACI Co-Lead for Education and Training identifying the learning and development needs of GPs, nurses, pharmacists, and other primary care clinicians. This was highlighted as one of the key priorities in our member survey to you; your contribution will play an important role in shaping future educational initiatives.

Working closely with Chloe and the BSACI Office, you will support the planning, development, and delivery of educational activities and resources in response to the needs identified. This is an excellent opportunity to influence the future of allergy education within primary care and help ensure that learning opportunities remain relevant, practical, and impactful for the wider healthcare community.

The role is designed to be collaborative and flexible, providing an opportunity to share ideas, influence educational priorities, and help develop initiatives that are practical, impactful, and responsive to the needs of frontline primary care clinicians.

We are committed to strengthening and growing an engaged primary care community within BSACI and hope you will consider applying for this exciting opportunity to contribute to the future of allergy education and training.

We recognise the demands on clinicians' time and have therefore designed the role to be manageable alongside existing professional commitments. The anticipated time commitment is up to two hours per week, with a preferred commitment of two years.

To apply, please submit a statement of no more than 200 words outlining your relevant experience and interest in the role, together with a short CV, to Sandie@bsaci.org by 9:00am on Monday 28 July 2026.

If you would like to find out more about the role, please contact us at primarycare@bsaci.org

We look forward to hearing from you.

Best wishes
Fiona Rayner
