Joint Social Event Leads for
BSACI Annual Conference (volunteer position)

BSACI is seeking two enthusiastic Social Event Leads to join the Annual Conference Committee. This is an exciting opportunity to play a key role in shaping the delegate experience at the UK's leading allergy conference, while gaining valuable insight into conference planning and the work of BSACI.

The role will involve:

- Planning and helping deliver the conference social programme, including the Welcome Event and Gala Dinner
- Selecting entertainment and creating memorable networking opportunities for delegates
- Working with the team to ensure catering meets the needs of our diverse delegate audience
- Contributing ideas and content to promote social events through the conference website and communications
- Participating in regular planning meetings and working collaboratively with the wider Conference Committee to help drive the conference's success

This is an excellent opportunity to expand your professional network, collaborate with colleagues from across the specialty, and gain experience in organising a large-scale national conference.

Time Commitment

The appointment is for a two-year term, with an anticipated commitment of approximately less than one hour per week, alongside attendance at regular planning meetings.

We particularly encourage applications from members who are creative, collaborative, and keen to contribute to the continued growth and success of the BSACI Annual Conference.

Eligibility
You must hold a current BSACI membership.
